TO THE COLLECTOR

With this issue, we are presenting the first edition of our new, annual subscription series of Fixed Price Lists. For the first time we have felt impelled to adopt the subscription feature and charge $2.00 for the six yearly lists. All of you are aware of the way in which costs of doing business and of living have been rising, compounded by the sharp rise in Postal rates. Needless to say, this increase has also taken place in the cost of printing catalogues and price lists. It has always been our aim to give to collectors service of the highest quality. In the interest of continuing the policy and at the same time keeping the expense of printing and mailing within reason, we have decided that it is essential to send our lists, in so far as it is possible, only to the interested collectors. To emphasize this point still further, we will credit you with the $2.00 cost of your annual subscription upon receipt of your first coin order for $10.00 or more. Please note that the subscription feature is planned on an annual basis and must be renewed again next year.

You will observe that this list emphasizes Crowns and Talers, and English milled silver. For the collector of ancient coins, there is a choice selection from our stock of gold. Future lists will contain new acquisitions of Greek and Roman silver coins as has been our custom in the past. It is our intention to plan our list in order to appeal to the man interested in the ancient and European series, in all price ranges. Needless to say, we cannot include every coin we have in stock, or every new acquisition, so that if you have "wants" that you do not find in one of our lists, write to us, we will do our best to supply your needs.

BOOKS FOR THE CROWN AND TALER COLLECTOR

As any serious collector of coins soon discovers, access to standard reference works in this field becomes an absolute essential if he is going to be successful in forming a collection of his favorite series. While the local public libraries may be able to furnish many useful Numismatic volumes, in the long run it is much more satisfactory to form a small, personal working library of reference books. Of course, if money is no object and you possess a working knowledge of at least three foreign languages, it would be quite possible to fill a small barn with books, all of which could, in one degree or another, be regarded as useful. Since the mechanics of modern living place a premium on space and long-suffering but cooperative wives keep a sharp eye on the budget, it is safe to say that most collectors will be interested in a small and inexpensive library. With this in mind, we wish to mention a few of the current books available that every man interested in Crowns and Talers should have handy at his elbow.

Undoubtedly the best known publications in print today dealing with Talers are the three principal works of John S. Davenport. The volumes in question are: "German Talers, 1700-1800", $7.50; "German Talers since 1800", $5.00; "European Crowns since 1800", $5.00. These three books all have the same format. Their contents are generally indicated by the title. The coins are arranged alphabetically by countries and each coin is assigned a "Davenport number". In addition, all the coins described are illustrated, both obverse and reverse. Separate sheets are inserted, giving more or less current valuations of the coins in question, in average condition. Davenport has also compiled a specialized list of multiple Talers of the Brunswick Duchies, issued from the 16th through the 18th Centuries, priced at $10.00

Among the general reference works in which Crown size pieces are listed, along with minor coins, we can mention the well-known publications of Wayte Raymond, "Coins of the World, 19th Century Issues" and "Coins of the World, 20th Century Issues", at $5.00 each. These two books have been recently supplemented by Yeoman's "A Catalogue of Modern World Coins", $4.00. This book covers 19th and 20th Century issues, is alphabetically arranged and is rather more condensed than Raymond's. Raymond has also published two small, useful pamphlets on the Crowns of Great Britain and the Silver Ecus of France, priced at 50 cents each.

The publications just mentioned can be purchased either through us or from your favorite coin dealer.
